Show Judging: Following a light breakfast, 25-30 clerk-volunteers work in teams with American Orchid Society (AOS) accredited judges to locate plants in exhibits, record awards, and place show ribbons. Orchids are put into classes by the exhibitors, and judging teams assess the orchids by class awarding ribbons based on the relative merits of the entries. Judging is a team activity and clerks are often invited to participate in ribbon and trophy award conversations. Lunch is provided. Advance registration for clerks is greatly appreciated to facilitate the creation of name badges. Contact Carrie Buchman (cbuchman@tncb.net) to sign up to clerk.

AOS Judging: After lunch, 2 to 4 clerk-volunteers pull selected plants from exhibits for American Orchid Society (AOS) judging and return them after judging. AOS judging evaluates orchids against an established database of prior awards. Volunteers are welcome to listen in on the judging discussion and ask questions as time permits.

Welcome Table: 2 to 4 volunteers welcome visitors to the show and answer questions as needed including handing out orchid culture sheets and North Jersey Orchid Society membership forms. The welcome desk also coordinates twice-daily orchid raffles. Welcome desk volunteers work in 2 hour shifts.

Workshops: Talks on orchid related topics are offered throughout the day. Contact Lisa Choplo if you'd like to give a talk.
